DONALD DAVIS makes a touch-down for the Bulldogs against Angleton in the huge Baylor Stadium.

For The Third Time We Were. . . .

Preparing to rush on the field are the ardent Bulldog supporters.

As the Bulldogs went into a state championship game for the third time, they were supported by a host of Blue and White followers from all over the state. An atmosphere of anxiety, excitement, and gayety grew as the fans witnessed a combat between two superior teams, each in pursuit of the AA crown. The Stamford enthusiasts left Baylor Stadium jubilant over the Bulldogs' 23-0 defeat of the Angleton Wildcats.

. . . . AA State Champs

Through Participation

SUE, NORMA, and friends back the Bulldogs to another victory.

We Grew and Had Fun. . . .

All This

Dedication

The epitome of professional dignity linked with keen business acumen and a penetrating insight into human nature with its perplexities, pleasures, and responsibilities, Mr. L. W. Johnson has earned the inestimable esteem, admiration, and respect of the school officials, teaching staff, students, and patrons.

Under his discerning guidance the academic standards of the school have constantly maintained an enviably high level. Evidence of material progress is the long range building expansion program which has seen the erection of Reynolds Street school, the Home economics cottage, Oliver Street school and cafetorium, the High School cafeteria, the vocational agriculture building, the gymnasium, and the enlarged football stadium.

For his devotion to duty, untiring perseverance, capacity for understanding, and inspiring leadership, we respectfully and lovingly dedicate this edition of the Bulldog to Superintendent L. W. Johnson.

FAVORITES

SUPERINTENDENT L. W. JOHNSON

Superintendent

Choosing to spend his teaching career in Stamford Public Schools, Mr. Johnson served two years as principal before becoming superintendent. In the activities and expansion of Stamford Schools during his career, his wisdom and foresight are evident on every hand.

Mr. Johnson derives much pleasure from his nineteenth century art glass collection. Shown here he is appraising a new acquisition to his extensive collection which may be seen in various areas of his home.

A life-time of teaching in Stamford High School has seen Mr. Tinsley serving variously in the capacity of coach, principal, and supervisor in addition to his class room service as mathematics and science instructor--in all of which he is unexcelled.

SUPERVISOR T. R. TINSLEY

Supervisor

Mr. Tinsley exhibits proof for dubious members of his chemistry class that a knowledge of chemistry will improve the yield of even a healthy rose bush. During the summer Mr. Tinsley finds many opportunities to practice in his own yard some of the chemical theories which he teaches all winter.

PRINCIPAL JAMES W. SIMPSON

Principal

High school principal for the past three years, Mr. James W. Simpson, while disposing of his numerous detailed duties, still finds time to utter lamentations over the seemingly unavoidable low ADA's (average daily attendances)!

Pursuing his hobby, gardening, Mr. Simpson is strenuously engaged in plowing. He is a firm believer in hard work and its rewards; therefore he encourages all students to work hard and gather a good yield.

Having exhibited their enthusiasm and love for the youth of Stamford, the members of the Board of Trustees serve unselfishly and unceasingly to benefit their community.

The capable and qualified citizens serving as members of this board have been responsible both directly and indirectly for the growth and development in the Stamford Public Schools.

Library Adds Many Books

Providing wholesome and educational reading for the students of Stamford High School is the purpose of the library. Here the conscientious pupil is supplied with reference material, fictional reading, and biography, as well as the latest weekly and monthly publications of America.

English is stressed for every student, because it is of utmost importance to every citizen for satisfaction and participation in the social and business world.

In addition to basic grammar, a fundamental requirement for success in any field, this course includes creative chirography, composition, book reports and outlines, business and social letters, vocabulary, punctuation, and analyses.

Courses in American and English literature, offering broad experiences which otherwise might never be realized, serve both to stimulate and inspire by their beauty and creativeness.

Today we live in a rapidly changing world. In these courses, as well as in Civics, we learn the customs and procedures of our complex government. We of Stamford High School consider ourselves extremely fortunate to have fine instruction in the social science studies.

The necessity for better international understanding increases each time the world shrinks with new transportation improvements. Future diplomatic positions that may stabilize world peace require the knowledge of other languages and customs. Many professions require the use of foreign speech.

Stemming from the influence of near-by Mexico, the interesting study of Spanish is popular in Stamford High. Our Latin department has won many awards from the national Latin tests; because of these honors they received a charter membership to the National Latin Honor Society this year.

Familiar Faces That Contribute Much to School Life

Unsung heroes on our campus are the custodians and cafeteria staff of Stamford High School. Seldom seen, but always appreciated, they are constantly ready and willing to be of service when called upon. Hats off to these friends, "People We Appreciate."

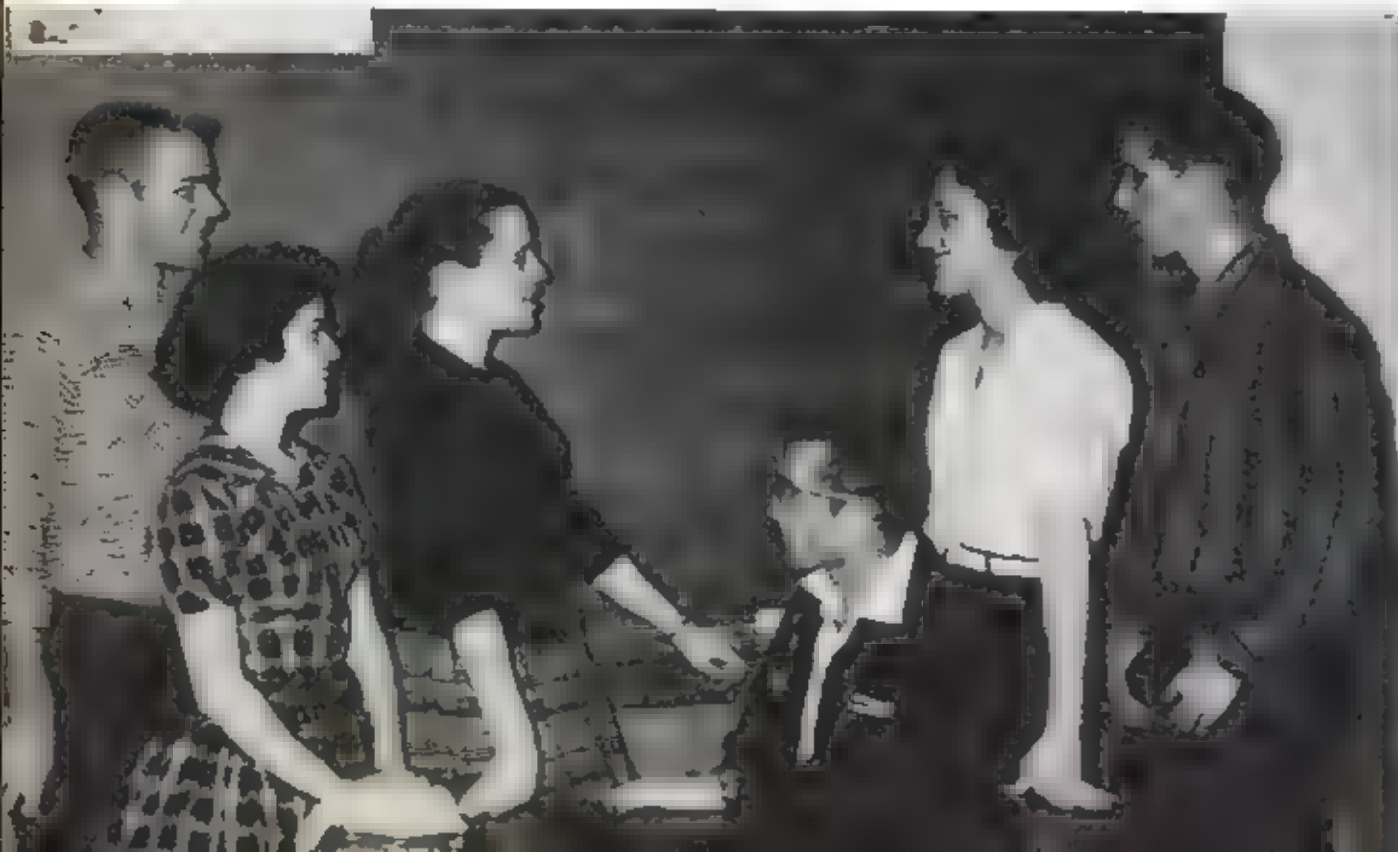

This Was Our Year

Seniors of 1959 will remember Stamford High School as the place where the fondest memories were made. The victories won and the dreams realized during each year of high school will not soon be forgotten. To some, scholastic recognition will be the longest remembered. Perhaps the three State Championships won in football or the first Bi-District championship in basketball will be the fondest memories of high school days. Others will cherish the honor of being a member of the first Sweepstakes Band at SHS. Each senior has had a bountiful harvest of happiness and opportunity during his school years. Belonging to Stamford High School has helped us to realize that each day's experiences are molding us for a career. Seniors have been the "big wheels" this year, electing, planning, serving on committees--being in everything, everywhere. All this has helped us to develop a sense of pride and responsibility toward our school. Watching our school grow in spirit and influence has made us aware of our duty to our school because of this ever-increasing influence. As the end of our days at SHS draws near, each echo of friendship, happiness, and seriousness will become suddenly all the more precious to each senior of 1959. This really was our year!

Revealing their great potential as future citizens, juniors claimed many awards in the fields of athletics, music, and scholarship. Leadership and ability teamed up to display an outstanding class and to hint of things to come.

In the spring, after the seniors had presented their money-making schemes, the juniors awaited opportunity to honor the upper class. Stagestruck juniors toiled through rehearsals of the class plays to obtain money for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet. Nancy Kennedy, the vice-president, working with her selected committee, was in charge of the banquet.

SHS Enjoys Exchange Student

Stamford waited with eager anticipation when word came that an exchange student from Wiesbaden, Germany, was to live for a year in our town. After being visited in Germany by Mr. and Mrs. Cleburne Houston, who met her when she arrived in Texas, Nora began a year of becoming acquainted with our community and with Texas. Perhaps she did not realize it, but Nora was also giving us an introduction to herself and her people. Rev. and Mrs. Newton Starnes became her temporary parents, and she soon grew to be a beloved part of the Starnes family. At St. John's Methodist Church where Rev. Starnes is pastor, Nora took an active part. She was in constant demand as a speaker at civic clubs, schools, and churches.

In Stamford High School, Miss Schwabe took part in many extra-curricular activities, including the Pep Squad, annual staff, and Fine Arts. Taking Latin, English, civics, Texas history, typing, and American history, Nora maintained a commendably high scholastic average.

Her ability to adapt quickly to a new environment, her good-natured personality, and her sincere concern and interest for others have made a definite place for Nora in the hearts, minds, and memories of high school students, citizens of our community, and people throughout this part of West Texas.

MR. JOHNSON proudly presents her high school diploma to NORA.

Copy, Layouts, Pictures- - -

Beginning in the year 1946, the BULLDOG has been published continuously. The staff has tried to convey and preserve for the school memories of sport achievements, journalistic talents, the faculty, organizations, and the spirit of the school body.

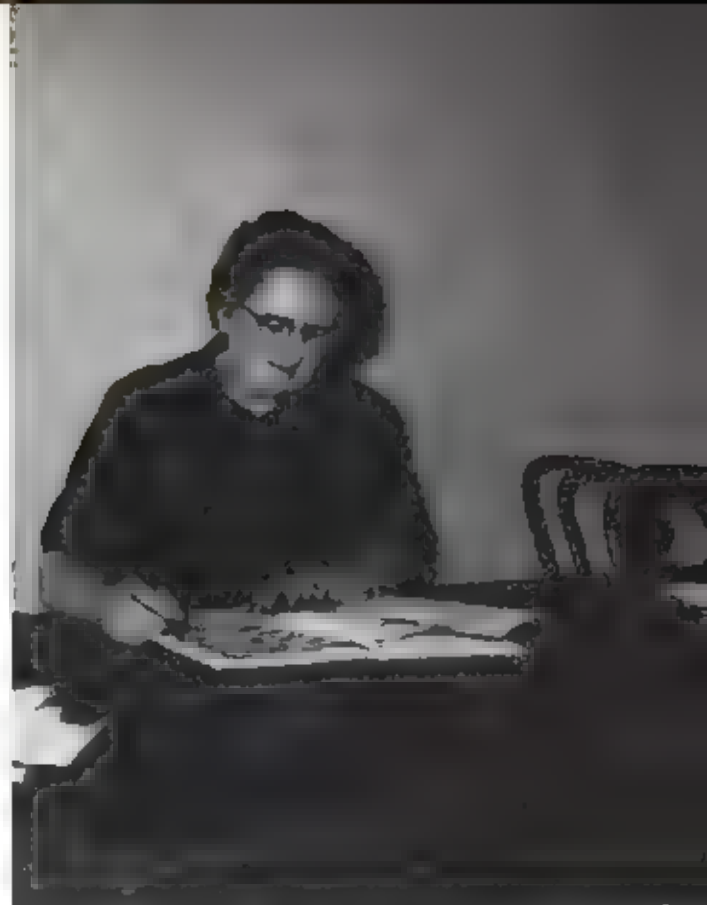

The staff is ever conscious that the annual is a carefully planned record of the school year, including interests and activities of the student body--a panoramic view that will preserve the treasured school year of '58-'59.

In an effort to make the annual outstanding, Douglas Beggs, Wanda Childress, Billy Dodd, Jimmie Cozby, and their sponsor, Mrs. Austin, attended the September Clinic held by the Steck Company in Austin. After returning home, inspired by fresh, new ideas assimilated at the art clinic, Wanda and Jimmie, aided by Gail Davenport, subsequently plunged into the making of posters for promotion of annual sales.

One week was set aside for sale of advertising space. Many students aided the annual staff by posing for ad shots.

Using the camera given by the graduating class of 1958, the annual student-photographer, JIMMY MITCHELL, made many of the photographs. Such procedure makes possible a better coverage of life in Stamford High.

Layouts, ad pages, pictures to be made on time--these were things which constantly confronted the editor, Douglas Beggs, and his staff.

- - - -Are They Ready?

Since the new band uniforms had not arrived, and since the regular season was almost over, seeing MR. MAYES wearing a sign that read, "No, no yet,!" became a common sight on the Stamford campus. However, ever the uniforms did arrive in time for the post-season games. The Bulldog Band, looking larger and more polished, was a beautiful sight as it ably participated in the half-time activities.

A highlight of the band year was the Interscholastic League concert and sight-reading contest held in San Angelo. Unceasing and seemingly tireless in his preparational efforts, MR. MAYES readied the band for the opportunity to compete in this important phase of band work.

DOUGLAS BEGGS, the first boy to serve as Drum Major at SHS in many years, capably led the BULL-DOG BAND at its half-time performances. He proved to be an excellent Drum Major, indeed. SHERRY LEE, serving in the newly-created office of Drill Team Captain, presented the precision drill squad in many colorful and enjoyable half-time activities. After serving two years as twirlers of the Band, NANCY JOHNSON, JANE GILES, NANCY DICKENSON, and NANCY WASH stand at the top of the ladder of skill and perfection in the art of baton twirling, thus bringing pride to all Stamford students and fans.

Moudy Heads Student Council

According to weekly custom, MAX MOUDY and CHARLES CROMWELL change the hall bulletin board.

With the leadership of Sponsor J. W. SIMPSON, and the President MAX MOUDY, the Student Council began the year with three specific duties: to bring the Morning Devotional each day, to take charge of flag-raising, and to take the responsibility of keeping the bulletin board up-to-date. Other objectives included the promotion of a co-operative spirit among the student body.

Fine Arts Studies Theater

During its twentieth year of service to the community, the Fine Arts Club studied AMERICAN THEATER MUSIC. Many outstanding performers were in the spotlight of this organization as the music of Berlin, Herbert, Gershwin, and Rodgers & Hammerstein gave many enjoyable programs. As a fitting climax to an exceptional year of work, Spring Open House was held to present to the public an authentic review of the achievements of the Stamford Fine Arts Club.

The Dog House Council is the governing body of the Stamford Youth Center. It works in cooperation with MRS. R. E. HALL and MR. GARTH McCALLUM in solving all matters concerning the welfare of the members of the youth center. One of the many duties of these council members, is the membership drive carried on among the high school students, which was highly successful this year.

Ping-pong, pool, and dancing to the latest records on the new Hi-Fi are among the offered activities of the Dog House. A television was bought this year in order to have a complete choice of entertainment.

The Dog House is a must on the list of weekend fun for Stamford High School students.

Many kinds of preparation are necessary to get a football team ready for a game. As important as each is to a winning team, perhaps no one thing is more vital to a team's success than the preparation it receives at squad meeting on Thursday night. Here, where every boy is on equal standing with the other, an individual is given the opportunity to express his thoughts and views on the upcoming game.

Squad meetings are carried on in the quietest and most reverent manner possible, for it is here that the members of the team realize that they must have faith in themselves and faith that God is always near to help. After each boy has been given an opportunity to express himself, the entire squad joins in the singing of favorite hymns and the LORD'S PRAYER climaxes the meeting.

Post season squad meeting drew a large number of both A and B team football boys.

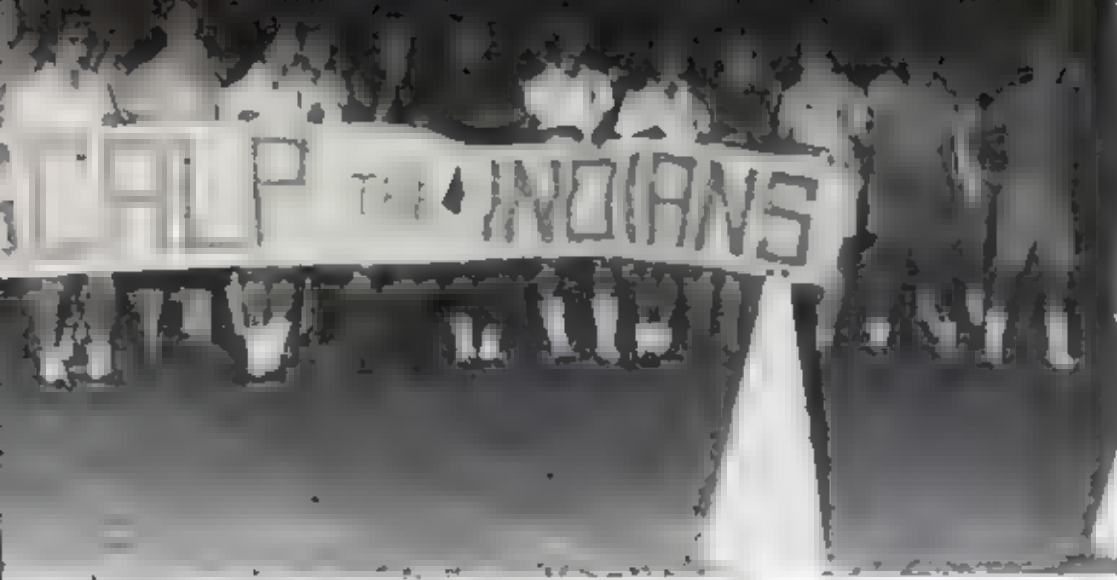

Squad Meeting Inspires Team

Talks made by the boys themselves contribute to the team's spirit. Here, JIMMY PAYNE, tri-captain, expresses his opinion of tomorrow's game.

Cheering the Bulldogs to VICTORY!

TNBPR Adds Student Spirit

Get Up Steam! Back the Team! These are the Watch-Words of TNBPR as the Junior and Senior girls meet each week to create spirit and enthusiasm for the approaching game. Before, during, and after a wonderful meal, that good old Bulldog Spirit pervades the air, and the thought of defeat is almost forgotten.

But TNBPR also has a great responsibility for giving the girls the humility and faith that are necessary in order to follow the BLUE and WHITE through victory and defeat.

Through the screaming and cheering of "Thursday Night Before Pep Rally" there comes a Bulldog Battle Cry that will ring Forever: "WIN OR LOSE, YOU'RE STILL THE BEST, SO FIGHT ON FOR S. H. S!"

And here we have the more serious side of TNBPR!

Members of FHA evidenced a strong desire for a successful year in the various activities that they planned and carried out.

The girls in the Key Chapter took great interest in the program on "Chapter Training For Participation In Civil Defense." Too, these girls fulfilled one of the national projects by planting red roses at the Cottage for the beautification of the school grounds. In April, during National FHA Week, Key members took their annual field trip to Abilene, had a sunrise breakfast at the Cottage, were host to FFA at a picnic, and attended church together.

With the school year completed, the girls looked forward to FHA activities during the summer.

Since the sole endeavor of the Pep Squad is to back the Bulldogs, the 1958 football season proved very rewarding to this organization. Attaining the coveted State Championship by the Bulldogs rounded out a perfect year for the Pep Squad.

The excitement increased as the season progressed and reached its peak when the four chartered buses filled with fans arrived at Waco for the State AA finals. Team spirit at this game added an unforgettable page in the Pep Squad's memory book.

To honor the Championship Bulldogs, the Pep Squad, 65 strong, worked diligently to raise funds for a wonderful climax to a perfect year--the Football Banquet.

Bulldogs Win State

Captains DONALD DAVIS, FRED UPSHAW, and JIMMY PAYNE pause before a game to decide which maneuvers will lead the team to victory.

An essential factor in making any championship team is a strong, hard-working coaching staff; in this Stamford was most fortunate during the 1958 season. Because of the hours of planning and scrimmaging so willingly given, COACH LARRY WARTES and his assistants--O. M. ISBELL, line coach; BILL ANDERSON, "B" Team mentor; and KEITH MUNNERLYN, junior high coach--were able to guide the Bulldogs to the state title.

During the 1958 season, the Blue and White were led by three of the most capable captains in S.H.S. history: quarterback, FRED UPSHAW; halfback, DONALD DAVIS; and tackle, JIMMY PAYNE. These three were outstanding examples on the gridiron, in class, and in all other activities.

Three important aids to the team were trainer BOB PAYNE, who served in this capacity at the North-South All-Star Game in Houston last summer; assisting him were TRACY HAMBRIGHT and BUTCH COCHRAN. These boys gave many extra hours at the field house giving a needed rub-down or whirlpool so that every Bulldog might be in top shape for the next game.

Bulldogs Capture District Foes

Stamford's "Mighty Bulldogs" charge on the field with the usual determination as they move on toward the championship.

Bulldog defenders, MARK HINSON and JERRY ROSE, move in to bring down the Bulldog's opponent.

In the season's opener, the Bulldogs soared to a 32-14 victory over pre-game favorite Quanah, with COACH WARTES substituting freely. In the first game played on home ground, Stamford continued an eight game winning streak over Ballinger by beating the Bearcats 38-6, as the Bulldogs' strong offense ground out 543 yards and their tight defense held Ballinger to a mere 71 yards. Next to fall to the Blue and White was Slaton. Stamford reserves saw much action as the Bulldogs rolled to a 36-6 win. The season's fourth encounter took Stamford to Sweetwater where they met their only defeat of the season at the hands of a strong herd of Mustangs; score, 32-0. Bouncing back like champs, the Bulldogs, showing a very tight defense, outfought highly-rated Brady 14-6. After playing the first quarter in a lack-luster manner, Stamford took to the air and administered a 35-0 defeat to AAA Graham.

To begin district play, Stamford's scoring machine got into high gear and rolled relentlessly to a 50-0 victory over arch-enemy Anson. Next in the race for the 6-AA title came Haskell; while winning 39-0, the Bulldogs compiled a total of 476 yards and held the Indians to a -4 yards on the ground and 17 yards in the air. The rampaging Bulldog eleven next took a 47-12 win over Hamlin. To clinch the district title, the Blue and White ripped the Seymour Panthers for a 34-8 win.

A Winning Team Means

To open post-season play, the Bulldogs knocked the Perryton Rangers from the playoffs by winning 34-14; Perryton's 1958 team was said to have been the best in Perryton history. The next team to be added to the growing list of AA powers to fall to Stamford's fighting Bulldogs was Cisco; in this regional tussle, the Bulldogs outplayed the Lobos in every department and came up with a 46-14 win. Stamford moved another step up the state championship ladder by a convincing 42-0 quarter-finals win over Spur. The semi-finals game, pitting Stamford against defending state champion Terrell, was rightfully predicted to produce the AA state champion of 1958. After a nip and tuck battle, the final gun sounded with the score locked 8-8; however, it was the Bulldog team of Stamford who moved into the finals because of a 3-2 edge in the penetration department. In the long-awaited championship game, played in Baylor stadium at Waco, the mighty Bulldog eleven blocked, tackled, passed, and ran themselves past Angleton 23-0 to become State Champions of Class AA for the third time in the past four years.

Bulldogs Qualify For Regional Meet

Trainers BUTCH COCHRAN, BOB PAYNE, and TRACY HAMBRIGHT and coaches LARRY WARTES and BILL ANDERSON take time out from a busy schedule to discuss future strategy.

After getting a late start due to a long football season, Stamford's basketballers compiled an amazing season record. The Blue and White won district 6-AA, having a 7-1 record in district play. In the bi-district game, the Bulldogs met the mighty Indians from Quanah, and in one of the biggest upsets of the season became the first basketball team in Stamford history to win the bi-district crown. In the regional meet, Stamford fell to strong Seminole, who won the regional title for the third straight year.

Our basketball team, coaches, and trainers are to be commended for having one of the finest seasons in Bulldog history.

Some Outstanding Students Of Stamford High School

JUDY COWGER

A perfectionist in all that she does, Judy inspires the best in others. Her versatile interests are not alone in scholastic fields but include music and other arts, church and social work, domesticity, and just plain, wholesome fun. A becoming modesty pervades her gentle nature, and an innate reticence often overshadows her exuberant inclinations. Her myriad friends appreciate her for her genuine qualities.

Many outstanding students have been chosen by their classmates as "Favorites" yet there are many others who are worthy of recognition. From this array these students have been selected by the entire faculty because of their leadership, their scholarship, their school citizenship, their personalities, and their integrity as OUTSTANDING STUDENTS of Stamford High School.

What Linda doesn't have in stature she has in personality -- a whole lot of! A lover of all mankind, she is as quick to challenge an injustice as she is enthusiastic over any phase of her favorite recreational pursuit -- horses. This enthusiasm extends into a wide coverage of innumerable interests, thus enriching her with a marvelously broad perspective, generous understanding, and an enviable following.

LINDA MERRIOTT

A contagiously effervescent happiness characterizes Jane, because she "sees that life is good and rejoices", finds intrinsic values, hidden to many. Her graces and charm, her infectious zeal for living, her radiant smile and friendly attitude, her limitless capabilities -- all these and more -- are as symphonic as the intricate symphonies she has so expertly mastered.

JANE GILES

Some can, some can't; but Judy does! Whatever the score, serious or social, count on Judy for a job well done -- and that joyfully and enthusiastically. A little bundle of dynamic efficiency, she fulfills well her responsibility, whether it be in the classroom, as an inspiration to both teacher and classmates; with the student body, whom she leads or follows, as needed; in the church, with its various phases; or at home where she efficiently manages the household. Everybody loves Judy!

JUDY SCURLOCK

Halfback on the state championship football team of '58 and also a track star, Charlie is able to add to his athletic accomplishments an enviable scholastic record. His cheerful friendly manner plus his leadership ability cause him to be respected and admired by his fellows and teachers.

CHARLIE HELMER

Don was outstanding in FFA work because of his determination and his willingness to share work. In spite of his being active in FFA and in sports, he was a dependable student. Because of his quiet, reliable, friendly, and unassuming traits, he is admired by faculty and classmates.

DON NEWQUIST

Scottie, whose youthful dignity and poise lend unprecedented charm to her affable mien, inspires emulation. Application and ability, with a deluge of delightful personable traits, have surrounded her with countless loyal friends and admirers. Her achievements are many, her aspirations noble.

SCOTTIE PRYOR

Changing schools at mid-year did not prevent Sherry from distinguishing herself in the classroom as a strong co-operative student; on the campus as a lovable, optimistic person; and everywhere as a splendid citizen of our school. We are so glad that she came to Stamford.

Seniors Give

The class of nineteen hundred fifty-nine chose to produce three one act plays as a means of raising funds for their annual spring trip. The plays, directed by MR. BEN MCGILL, were presented on March 30 and 31 in the High School Auditorium. The enjoyment which the audience realized from these plays was equalled, if not surpassed, by the exhilaration which the seniors experienced through producing them.

Stamford District Tops Area

Under the capable supervision of MR. WELDON HOLBROOKS and MR. BRAD ROWLAND, the Stamford Chapter strives to be at the top in the district and also in the area.

For the second consecutive year the Stamford Chapter was host to Stamford District for its annual banquet. At this time the District Sweetheart was elected and awards presented. Jeffrey Wofford and Donnie Hill, who rendered musical entertainment, were recognized as the winners of the District Entertainment Contest.

JOHN BILL OMAN, president elect of Area II, and PEGGY SUMERLIN, newly elected Area Sweetheart, display their awards. Both PEGGY and JOHN BILL are from the Stamford District -- PEGGY, from Roby, and JOHN BILL, from Stamford.

Oman Elected Area II President

The Area II Association of Future Farmers of America is composed of 84 chapters in 8 districts and is roughly bounded by a line from El Paso to Del Rio to San Angelo to Stamford to Tahoka and Brownfield.

The Stamford District, also the Stamford Chapter, produced the Area President and Area Star Farmer, JOHN BILL OMAN; the Area Sweetheart, PEGGY SUMERLIN of Roby; and the outstanding Chapter of the Area, Stamford. This is a first for the District.

Not only was the Area Star Farmer third in the State, but, also, a former Lone Star Farmer of Stamford, CHARLES STENHOLM is a candidate for American Farmer.

Plays Well Accepted

On the evenings of May 6th and 7th, the Junior Class of Stamford High presented the Junior Plays of 1959. Performing before an audience was a real experience for those who worked to prepare the dramas. The entire cast felt that the thrill of opening night was worth the work and perspiration that they had sacrificed to an unrelenting MR. MAYES, who directed the plays.

A serious drama, HURRICANE HILL, was the first in order of presentation, and featured life in an obscure mining town. This was followed by a farce directed at a family of "fuedin'" hillbillies. It was very properly titled "FUEDIN' MOUNTAIN BOYS." A comedy about a reluctant Queen of the May was last on the program, and was called "NO TIME FOR SKIRTS!"

COACH LARRY WARTES has praise for all as he proudly displays the championship trophy presented at the Banquet of Champions in Wichita Falls.

Pep Squad Honor

Awards were many and praises unlimited at the annual Pep Squad Football Banquet. As master of ceremonies, Pep Squad President ESTHER RHODES welcomed students, and guests to the banquet celebrating the third Bulldog State Championship. Speaker OLIVER JACKSON, track coach at Abilene Christian College, paid tribute to the team spirit and quality of athletes turned out by Stamford High School. Providing entertainment were the Singing Men and the Senior Septette.

COACH OLIVER JACKSON, A. C. C. track coach, and other celebrities seem to find something quite amusing as they view the other banquet guests.

AA Champs

Sumptuous food only heightened the enjoyment common to all who attended.

Mardi Gras-Banquet Theme

The Senior class will and prophecy was read by ANNE HUDSON and BOB PAYNE. ESTHER RHODES crowned the Basketball King and Queen, and other entertainment was given by the Junior Octette.

PATTY MILLER, NANCY KENNEDY, JANE SMITH, GLENDA LINDSEY, MARTHA HOLLAND, WANDA CHILDRESS, SUE SOUTHERLAND, and JUDY HUGHES are accompanied by JUDY MILLS while singing an original parody and one other selection.

BOB PAYNE and ANNE HUDSON read the class will and prophecy which expresses the fondest and funniest wishes of their classmates.

######

With the seniors at the Blue Room in the Hotel Roosevelt were the sponsors, MR. and MRS. COWGER; MR. and MRS. MAYES; COACH and MRS. ISBELL; DR. and MRS. CROMWELL; and the bus drivers, SMITTY and DENTON.

New Orleans Stormed By Seniors

The seniors thoroughly enjoyed the bus ride to New Orleans; they were too tired to be as jubilant on the return trip.

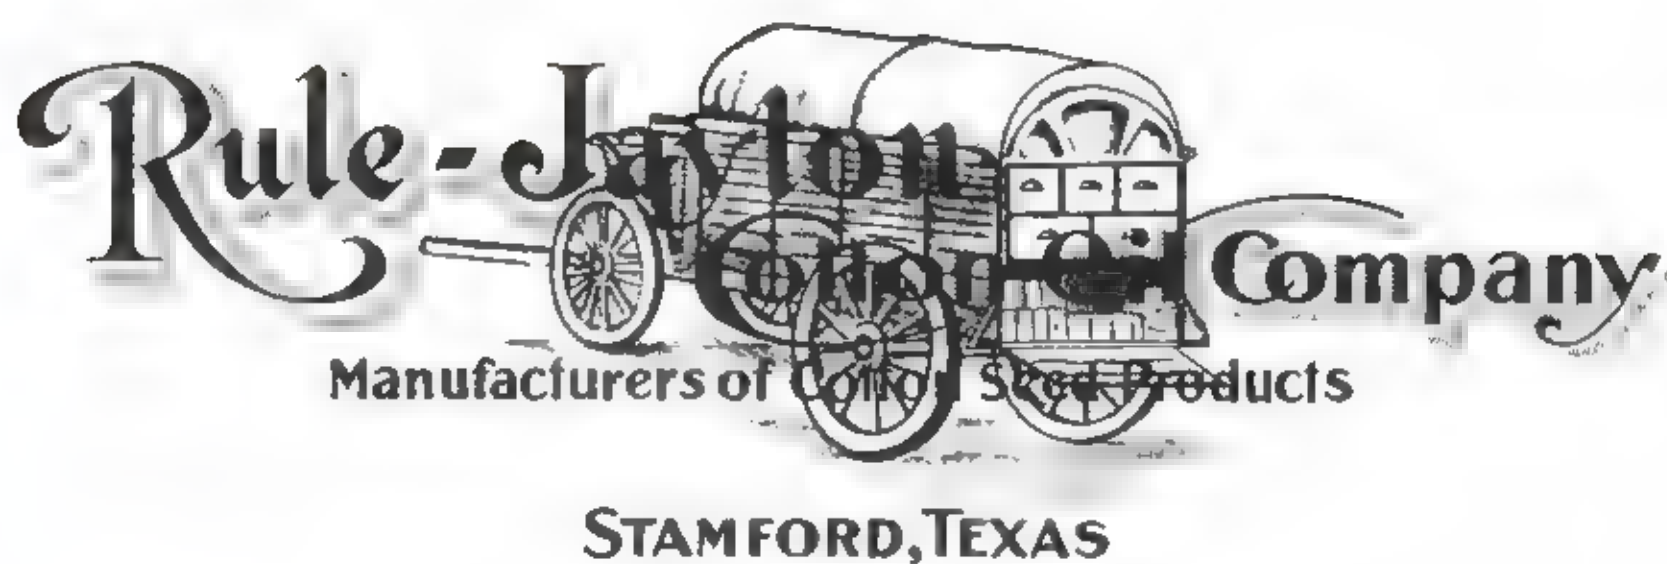

The Capitol building in Baton Rouge was one of the most interesting and informative places that the seniors visited.

We of the annual staff would like to thank the students, faculty, and business men of Stamford who have made it possible for the 1959 BULLDOG to be published. The attitude and co-operation of the student body has been highly commendable.

We sincerely hope that as your friends and instructors have been presented to you, this year's book has recorded the events and joys of the past year which you will wish to hold in your memory forever.
